Why Bryan Wears His Hair Long.

Nearly everybody, even if he doesn't know William J. Bryan personally, is able to recognize his portrait. That wealth of hair, that prominent nose and that generous mouth, with its enduring smile, are features the American people cannot forget. But speaking of the hair, it is not everybody who knows the secret of those bushy locks, says the Chicago Record-Herald.

There is a story told on Mr. Bryan, and it is said he has related it himself, for he loves a good story—a clean story—even if it strikes at his own personal characteristics. This is one of them.

While on a speaking tour of the East Mr. Bryan stopped at a small town to fill an appointment, and decided after his arrival there that his hair was too long in spots and too ragged. Therefore he sought the village barber, and thus it came about that one of the secrets in Mr. Bryan's life was revealed.

"I want my hair trimmed just a little around the edges," said the presidential candidate, as he took his place in the chair. "I have peculiar ideas on the subject. A Western barber told me my plan meant for him to cut a circle and shave my neck. Now, if you know what that means, you know what I want done."

The barber, who did not know his patron, as Mr. Bryan's face was not so familiar to the public then as it is to day, ran his fingers through the thick black mane, eyed the man in the chair, and then expressed himself in this manner:

"Now, you don't want your hair cut in that manner at all. I am a barber of 16 years' experience, and it is my duty to you as a customer to tell you that your hair is too heavy at the sides. It will look much better if you will let me trim it out some behind your ears."

"My friend," replied the Nebraskan, "it is the ears that cause all the trouble. If you examine them you will find they are unusually large. Now, if you cut my hair in the manner you propose, they will stick out until they are embarrassingly prominent. It is to avoid that, as well as to keep a promise I made to myself early in life, that I have my own ideas as to the style in which my hair shall be trimmed."

"Your ears are rather large," commented the barber, after he had uncovered those appendages and had noted the effect.

"Yes," continued the peerless one, while the artist began snipping his shears and combing out the tangles, "those ears caused me a great deal of anxiety at one time when I was still a young man. In a moment of heedlessness I had my hair cut very short. My ears were left so naked they looked like sails, and almost flapped as I walked. Some of my fellow students, in not wholly a friendly spirit, I fear, said they resembled ears which are not given to man."

"But that was not the worst of it. I might have borne with the raillery of the young men, but my sweetheart—you've had a sweetheart, I suppose—turned her back on me, and for a long time I thought I had lost her. Not until my hair had grown out again to its usual length, and my 'wings' had been partly hidden, was I again received with favor. Then I promised that thereafter I should regulate the trimming of my hair, and not leave it to the well-disposed barber."

"I guess you are right after all," said the barber, and his shears went snip, snip, as they cut a careful circle about the distinguished head. But he was evidently still far from satisfied. He finished his work, and then as his customer started to get out of his chair he said:

"Say, tell me something more."

"Well, what is it," answered Mr. Bryan.

"Why don't you raise a mustache to shield your nose?"

To Nursing Mothers

There is no time in a woman's life when she needs strength more than when she is nursing a child. She must sustain the life of two persons. We never sold a remedy equal to Vinol to create such strength. We cordially invite any weak and run-down woman to try Vinol on our promise to return her money if she is not fully satisfied. ## Fraud Exposed.

A few counterfeiters have lately been making and trying to sell imitations of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, and other medicines, thereby defrauding the public. This is to warn you to beware of such people, who seek to profit, through stealing the reputation of remedies which have been successfully curing disease, for over 35 years. A sure protection, to you, is our name on the wrapper. Look for it on all Dr. King's or Bucklen's remedies, as all others are mere imitations. H. E. BUCKLEN & CO., Chicago, Ill., and Windsor, Canada.

"It seems to me," said the old rooster, "you are not attending to business these days."

"What's the use?" clucked the old hen. "If you think I'm going to lay myself out to beat a trust and a stock of 45,000,000 eggs in cold storage you've got another guess coming. I may be a small operator, but I'm no fool."

Sharpening her bill on a projecting nail in the fence, she attacked the frozen pile again.

Oh, the grip—
The terrible grip!
I'm wondering now
Will it take me this trip,
A passenger pale
On the phantom-like ship
That sails for the shore
Where we camp evermore?
Fetch the decanter,
And give me a "nip"
To the grip—to the ghostly,
Grim, bone-rattling grip!

An ordinance has been adopted by the Board of Aldermen empowering the city magistrates of New York City to assess a fine of $250 on persons found carrying concealed weapons. The former penalty was $10 and had little tendency, according to the police, toward breaking up the practice.

"What would you do, dear, if I should die?"

"I'd go nearly crazy, dear."

"Would you marry again?"

"I didn't say I'd go clear crazy, did I?"

Startling But True.

People the world over were horrified on learning of the burning of a Chicago store in which nearly 600 people lost their lives, yet more than five times this number, or over 3,000 people, died from pneumonia in Chicago during the same year, with scarcely a passing notice. Every one of these cases of pneumonia resulted from a cold and could have been prevented by the timely use of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. A great many who had every reason to fear pneumonia have ward off by the prompt use of this remedy. The following is an instance of this sort: "Too much cannot be said in favor of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and especially for colds and influenza. I know that it cured my daughter, Laura, of a severe cold, and I believe saved her life when she was threatened with pneumonia." W. D. Wilcox, Logan, New York. Sold by Lyne Bros., Crab Orchard.

Lincoln Wells, of Yosemite, has announced for the republican nomination for sheriff of Casey. He is one of the best men in his county and would make a capital high sheriff.

There passed away at the home of Greta Wesley, near Banel Ridge, Sunday, a widely known minister of the gospel, Rev. Joshua Godbey, aged about 92 years. He leaves five sons who are ministers of note and a large relationship in this region of the State.—Somerset Journal.

Breckinridge Jones, brother-in-law of Dr. Hugh Reid, of this place, but who in the last 15 years has been one of the leading capitalists of St. Louis, is one of the three directors of a gigantic concern which will shortly gain control of the united railways and the two largest lighting and power companies of that city.

LIBERTY.

Rev. W. G. Montgomery returned from Lexington and filled his appointment at the Christian church Sunday and Sunday night.

I. S. Flannigan, who is a candidate for county superintendent, has suspended his school at this place until after the primary election.

Dr. and Mrs. I. S. Wesley entertained the young people last Saturday evening. N. H. W. Aaron was in James town last Monday on legal business. C. F. Montgomery and wife visited the parents of the latter at Hustonville last Sunday.

We are glad to note that the graded school question is being agitated here. At present there are about 125 pupils in this district and with some extension of the boundary lines the additional money necessary to maintain the school could be raised by a very low rate of taxation. If a vote is taken on the question, which seems very probable, and it is carried, E. H. Kidd and Dr. C. L. Herren agree to construct at their own expense a foot-bridge across the river for the benefit of the children in South Liberty.

The fiscal court of Casey at its October, 1904, term, levied for county purposes 45 cents ad valorem and $1.50 poll tax, but after investigation on the part of some of the citizens and tax payers, it was learned that the amount raised at the above rate of taxation would be greatly in excess of that needed in meeting the current expenses of the county. The county judge's attention being brought to the matter, he called the magistrates together in special session last week and finally succeeded by the aid of some of the tax payers in getting it reduced to 30 cents ad valorem and $1 poll.

The republican primary to nominate candidates for the various county offices to be voted for at the November election will be held April 1st, and from all indications it promises to be the warmest held in Casey for many years. Owing to the number of candidates, more interest centers in the jailer's race than in any other one, but we are informed by the leading republicans of the county that Phillips will be nominated, if all signs do not fail. The only thing we can say is that if he is successful we will do our best to defeat him in November, but politics will have to change in Casey before our chances are very good.

Afraid of Strong Medicines.

Many people suffer for years from rheumatic pains, and prefer to do so rather than take the strong medicines usually given for rheumatism, not knowing that a quick relief from pain may be had simply by applying Chamberlain's Pain Balm and without taking any medicine internally. Rev. Amos Parker, of Magoolia, North Carolina, suffered for eight years with a lame hip, due to severe rheumatic pains. He has been permanently cured by the free application of Chamberlain's Pain Balm. For sale by Lyne Bros., Crab Orchard.
